

Fatma's Big Speech

English Mood Academy

yellow = new words red = Past Simple verbs

Last Sunday, Fatma sat in a big traffic jam with her dad. The cars did not move, and everyone felt stressed.

"This traffic jam caused a lot of pollution," Dad said. "Look at the dirty air!" Fatma looked out of the window and thought hard.

At school, her teacher gave the class a challenge. "Each of you will give a speech about a problem in our country." Fatma chose traffic.

She did a lot of research. She read about new metro lines, the monorail, and Tahya Misr Bridge over the Nile.

She learned that flyovers and tunnels help cars cross the city fast, and that public transportation can reduce traffic.

But the night before the speech, Fatma was nervous. "What if I make a mistake?" she asked. Her mum smiled: "Take a deep breath and relax."

Mum also reminded her: "Be honest. If you don't know an answer, say it honestly." Fatma felt glad and a little braver.

The next day, Fatma stood in front of the class. She spoke about electric trains and a city where people move around easily.

Her classmate Hany asked a hard question. Fatma did not know the answer, so she told him with honesty: "I will do more research."

Then the teacher had a surprise. "Your creativity inspired us all, Fatma. You handled the challenge very well!" Everyone clapped, and Fatma felt inspired.

The End 🎤

Face your challenges: prepare well, stay calm, and always be honest.
