

Karim and the Flood Rescue

English Mood Academy

yellow = new words red = past simple verbs

Karim lived in an old neighborhood in Rosetta. Every morning he passed a magnificent monument built by his ancestors, and he felt great pride.

One winter night, heavy rain fell for hours. The river rose, and the streets turned into rivers. It was a real emergency.

Karim's uncle, a volunteer with the rescue team, called him. "We need help. It's risky, but people are isolated in their houses."

Karim felt overwhelmed, but he remembered his grandfather's words: "Determination is our legacy." His confidence grew.

The team rowed small boats from house to house. They rescued an old woman and her cat. Her face lit up when she saw them.

Later, a message spread on social media: "Send money now and get a free house! Only today!" It looked irresistible. It was too good to be true.

Karim knew it was a scam. The people behind it put on a friendly face, but they were wolves in sheep's clothing. They wanted to exploit the flood victims.

He warned his neighbors: "Don't believe misleading posts. Trust but verify. Awareness is our best defense against misinformation."

The community worked together for a week. They planted new saplings, helped to restore the old mosque, and supported every family.

At the end, the mayor honored the volunteers. Karim smiled. "Our heritage makes us proud, and the truth keeps us safe."

The End 🛟

Help your community, protect your heritage, and never trust an offer that is too good to be true.
